Ideal Candidates: Project Manager

Suggested Project Manager Qualities

In selecting an individual from your organization to fulfill the role of project manager, I recommend someone with many of the following:

One who...

- can interact well with others (interpersonal skills)
- listens well and asks good questions (active listening)
- is organized
- can plan out at a high level and down to the lowest levels
- is able to communicate with those doing the work to understand the work, progress, and hurdles
- is able to communicate with those outside of the project succinctly and confidently
- can facilitate meetings, workshops, and events
- is able to get others to communicate and knows when to back away

Subject knowledge is a bonus, but the aforementioned are more important when selecting a project manager from your organization.
